TAX PREPARERS' DUE DILIGENCE REQUIREMENTS

Paid preparers who file EITC, CTC/ACTC/ODC, AOTC, or HOH returns or claims for refunds for clients must meet due diligence requirements. Those who fail to do so can be assessed a $530 penalty for each failure.

Requirement	As a paid tax return preparer you must:
Knowledge	 Have no knowledge that any information used to determine a client's eligibility for, or the amount of the refundable credit, is incorrect. Be aware of the implications of all information given by the client, or known by you, and must make additional inquiries if a reasonable and well-informed tax return preparer, knowledgeable in the law, would conclude the information is incomplete, inconsistent, or incorrect. Know the law and use that knowledge of the law to ensure you are asking your client the right questions to get all relevant information. Document any additional questions you ask and your client's answer at the time of the interview. The Treasury Regulations give examples of the application of the knowledge requirement. Find the regulations for tax return preparer due diligence requirements on the Government Printing Office site.
Complete and Submit Form 8867	 Complete Form 8867, Paid Preparer's Due Diligence Checklist, for each EITC, CTC/ACTC/ODC, AOTC, or HOH claim you prepare. Complete the compliance checklist with due diligence requirements and information provided by your clients. Submit the completed Form 8867 to the IRS with every electronic return you prepare claiming the EITC, CTC/ACTC/ODC, AOTC, or HOH. Attach the completed Form 8867 to every paper return or claim for refund you prepare for the EITC, CTC/ACTC/ODC, AOTC, or HOH and advise your client of the importance of sending it with the return or claim for refund to the IRS.
Keep Records	 Keep a copy of the Form 8867 and the worksheets used to determine credits. Keep a record of all additional questions you asked your clients that would help you comply with your due diligence requirements and keep a record of your client's answers. Keep copies of any documents your client gives you on which you relied to determine eligibility for, or the amount of, the credits. Keep a record of how, when, and from whom you obtained the information used to complete the return. Keep your records in either paper or electronic format but make sure you can produce them if the IRS asks for them. Keep these records for three years from the latest date of the following that apply: The original due date of the tax return (this does not include any extension of time for filing). If you electronically file the return or claim for refund and sign it as the return preparer, the date the tax return or claim for refund is filed. If the return or claim for refund is not filed electronically and you sign it as the return preparer, the date you present the tax return or claim for refund and another preparer completes and signs the return or claim for refund, you must keep the part of the return you were responsible to complete for 3 years from the date you submit it to the signing tax return preparer. Keep these records in either a paper or electronic format in a secure place to protect your client's personal information.
